SYSTEMATIC INDEX

PAGE

Summary 5

List of authors 7

Introduction 9

Unit 1. Grammar in the EFL classroom 11

Objectives of the Unit 13

1. Introduction 14
2. What is grammar? 14
   - 2.1. Phonology 14
   - 2.2. Morphology 15
   - 2.3. Syntax 15
   - 2.4. Semantics 16
   - 2.5. Pragmatics 16
3. Main types of grammar 17

4. Why should grammar be taught? 18
4.1. The sentence-machine argument 18
4.2. The fine-tuning argument 18
4.3. The fossilization argument 19
4.4. The advance-organizer argument 19
4.5. The discrete item argument 19

5. Different approaches to the teaching of grammar 20
5.1. Explicit vs implicit grammar teaching 20
5.2. Deductive vs inductive grammar teaching 21
5.3. The functional-notional approach 23

6. Models to plan a grammar lesson 24
6.1. PPP: presentation, practice, production 24
6.2. TTT: test, teach, test 24
6.3. ESA: engage, study, activate 25
6.4. OHE: observe, hypothesize, experiment / III: illustrate, interact, induce 25
6.5. TBL: task-based learning 26

7. Conclusions 26

Basic concepts 27

Topics for reflection 27

References 28

Unit 2. Vocabulary in the EFL classroom 29

Objectives of the Unit 31

1. Introduction 32
2. What is vocabulary? 32
2.1. Words and lexemes 32
2.2. Word knowledge 33
2.3. Vocabulary in use 34

3. Learning vocabulary 35
3.1. How to learn and remember new vocabulary 35

3.2. Acquiring the spoken and written form 36
3.3. Acquiring meaning 37
3.4. Multi-word verbs and collocations 38

4. Vocabulary teaching methods 39
4.1. Presentation techniques of lexical items in English 39
4.2. How to store vocabulary items 40
4.3. Teachers' methods when teaching vocabulary 40
4.3.1. Assessing vocabulary knowledge 41
4.4. Vocabulary practice 43

5. Integration with reading and speaking 49
6. Lexical needs for Spanish secondary students 50
6.1. False friends between English and Spanish 50
6.2. Lexical creativity 51

7. Conclusion 51

Basic concepts 52
Topics for reflection 52
References 53

Unit 3. Using literature in the EFL classroom 55

Objectives of the Unit 56

1. Introduction 57
2. Advantages of using Literature in the EFL classroom 57
3. Literature and the CEFRL 58
4. Approaches to Literature in the EFL classroom 60
5. Selecting texts 62
6. Texts to use in the EFL classroom 64
6.1. Short stories 65
6.2. Poetry 68
6.2.1. Poetry and media 70

6.3. Plays 71
6.3.1. The role of the teacher in drama activities 72
7. Conclusion 73

Basic concepts 74
Topics for reflection 75
References 75

Unit 4. The role of culture in the EFL classroom 77

Objectives of the Unit 78
1. Introduction 79
2. Definition of culture 79
3. Relationship between language and culture 81
4. Teaching culture in the EFL classroom 83
4.1. Techniques for culture teaching 88
4.1.1. H.H. Stern's techniques of culture teaching 88
4.1.2. Byram et al.'s approach to teaching culture techniques 89
5. Conclusion 91

Basic concepts 92
Topics for reflection 92
References 93

Unit 5. Project-based learning 95

Objectives of the Unit 96
1. Introduction 97
2. What is project-based learning? 97

3. How to implement project-based learning 99
3.1. Steps in project-based learning 100
4. Conclusions 108

Appendix. Project design template 110
Basic concepts 113
Topics for reflection 114
References 114

Unit 6. Evaluation: who, when and what 117

Objectives of the Unit 118

1. Introduction 119
2. What is "evaluation"? 119
3. Assessment models in foreign language 122
4. Who assesses 124
5. When to assess 127
6. What to assess 129
7. Conclusion 134

Basic concepts 135
Topics for reflection 135
References 136

Unit 7. How to evaluate 139

Objectives of the Unit 140

1. Introduction 141
2. Good practice in the evaluation process: an appeal to ethical commitment 141

3. The question of quantifying achievement 143
3.1. When passing is a problem: the reasons for having basic objectives in ELT 145
4. The question of "how" 147
4.1. Types of classroom observation 149
4.2. Analysis of the students' performance 151
4.3. Debates 152
4.4. Types of objective testing 153
4.4.1. Types of achievement tests 154
4.5. How to interpret the results of objective evaluations 156
5. Self-evaluation 158
Basic concepts 162
Topics for reflection 162
References 163

Unit 8. European Languaje Portfolio 165
Objectives of the Unit 167
1. Introduction 168
2. What is the ELP? 168
2.1. Language passport 170
2.2. Language biography 170
2.3. Dossier 171
3. Purposes of the ELP 172
3.1. Application of the CEFR 173
3.2. Promotion of learner autonomy 175
4. Implications of the ELP 176
4.1. Self assessment 176
4.2. Action-oriented tasks 178
4.3. ELP and textbooks 179
4.4. Intercultural competence 180

5. Implementing the ELP 182
5.1. School implementation 182
5.2. Classroom implementation 182
5.2.1. General considerations 182
5.2.2. Classroom activities 184
6. Summary 185
Basic concepts 186
Topics for reflection 186
References 187

Unit 9. Attending to deversity in the EFL classroom 189
Objectives of the Unit 190
1. Introduction 191
2. What is diversity? 191
2.1. Cultural diversity 191
2.2. Mixed abilities 193
2.3. Multiple intelligences 194
2.4. Learning styles 197
3. Strategies for attending to diversity 198
3.1. Homogeneous vs. heterogeneous groups 198
3.2. Cooperative learning 200
3.3. Open-ended tasks 201
3.4. Differentiated instruction 202
3.5. Language games and stories 203
4. Summary 204
Basic concepts 205
Topics for reflection 206
References 206

Unit 10. Didactic programmes and didactic unit planning 209

Objectives of the Unit 210

1. From the law to the classroom 211
2. Characteristics of a didactic programme 214
3. The structure of the didactic programme 217
   - 3.1. Context 218
   - 3.2. Organisation and sequence of objectives, contents and evaluation criteria 219
     - 3.2.1. Objectives and contents 219
     - 3.2.2. Sequence 221
   - 3.3. Methodology 223
   - 3.4. Attention to diversity 225
   - 3.5. Evaluation criteria 227
   - 3.6. The evaluation of the process: self-evaluation 231
   - 3.7. The quantification criteria 232
4. Didactic unit planning 233
5. Scheme of the structure of a didactic programme 234
6. Scheme of a didactic unit plan 235

Basic concepts 236

Topics for reflection 236

References 237