

SYSTEMATIC INDEX

	PAGE
Summary	5
List of authors	7
Introduction	9
Unit 1. The nature of oral communication	11
Objectives of the Unit	12
1. Oral output	13
2. What happens when we listen	15
2.1. The process of comprehension	15
2.2. Ideas to become a good “listener”	17
3. A basic scheme for listening activities	18
4. What happens when we speak	19

5. Typology of oral input	22
5.1. Mechanisms to facilitate output	24
5.2. Mechanisms to compensate a lack of experience	25
6. Codeswitching	27
Basic concepts	30
Topics for reflection	31
References	32
Unit 2. Listening in the EFL classroom	33
Objectives of the Unit	35
1. Introduction	36
2. Listening to communicate	36
3. The process of listening	39
3.1. Interaction, reception and interpretation	39
3.2. The response	40
4. Teaching listening comprehension	41
4.1. Pre-listening	41
4.2. Listening	41
4.3. Post-listening	43
5. Evaluating listening comprehension	43
6. Integration of listening comprehension with phonological aspects	45
6.1. Suprasegmental level	45
6.1.1. Pitch, intonation and stress	45
6.1.2. Gradation and the schwa	47
6.1.3. Connected speech rules	48
6.2. Segmental level. Problems for Spanish speakers	48
7. Integration with speaking	49
8. Conclusion	49

Basic concepts	51
Topics for reflection	51
References	53
Unit 3. Speaking in the EFL classroom	55
Objectives of the Unit	57
1. Introduction	58
2. General considerations of speaking	58
2.1. Conversational maxims	59
2.2. Speech acts	60
2.3. Turn-taking	61
2.4. Topics	61
2.5. Formal features	62
3. Communicative strategies in speaking communication	62
3.1. Transfer from native language	62
3.2. Overgeneralization	63
3.3. Overelaboration	64
3.4. Topic avoidance	65
3.5. Appeal to authority	65
3.6. Paraphrase	65
3.7. Circumlocution	66
3.8. Formal reduction strategies	66
4. Problems for Spanish speakers	67
5. Speaking in the portfolio	69
6. Assessment criteria for oral production	71
7. Conclusion	72
Basic concepts	73
Topics for reflection	73
References	74

Unit 4. Written discourse and reading theory	75
Objectives of the Unit	76
1. Introduction	77
2. Features of English written discourse	77
2.1. Definition of text and discourse	77
2.2. Characteristics of written English	78
3. The process of reading	79
3.1. Models of reading processing	79
3.2. Processing a written word within a phonological code	80
3.3. The relationship between reading and writing	81
3.4. SLT consequences of the process of acquiring the skills	84
3.5. Why do we read?	85
4. Learning to read and phonological knowledge	86
5. Why and how do we write?	88
Basic concepts	91
Topics for reflection	91
References	92
 Unit 5. Reading in the EFL classroom	 93
Objectives of the Unit	94
1. Introduction	95
2. Types of reading and their uses in the EFL classroom	95
2.1. Intensive reading	96
2.2. Extensive reading	97
3. Reading in the EFL classroom: skills and strategies	98
3.1. Reading strategies	100
3.1.1. Developing reading strategies	102

4. Skimming and scanning	104
5. Assessment of reading	106
6. Reading and ICTs	108
7. Working with reading activities	109
8. Appendix	112
 Basic concepts	 114
Topics for reflection	115
References	115
 Unit 6. Writing in the EFL classroom	 117
Objectives of the Unit	119
1. Introduction	120
2. Product vs. process approaches	120
2.1. Product approach	120
2.2. Process approach	122
3. Principles of EFL classroom writing	123
4. The writing process	125
4.1. Designing a writing task	125
4.1.1. Audience	127
4.1.2. Purpose	127
4.2. Pre-writing	129
4.3. Writing	130
4.4. Evaluation and revision	130
4.4.1. Self evaluation	131
4.4.2. Teacher feedback	131
4.4.3. Error correction	132
4.4.4. Peer review	134
5. Summary	135

Basic concepts	137
Topics for reflection	138
References	138
Unit 7. Materials and resources	139
Objectives of the Unit	141
1. Introduction	142
2. The essentials	144
2.1. Blackboard or whiteboard	144
2.2. Textbook	145
2.3. Visual aids	148
2.4. Audio player	149
2.5. Dictionaries	149
3. Complementary materials	150
3.1. Extra printed activities	150
3.2. Graded readers and library books	150
3.3. Authentic materials	151
3.4. Arts materials	152
3.5. Video player	152
3.6. Computer	153
3.7. Projector and screen	153
3.8. Email	154
3.9. Educational software	154
4. Nice to have	155
4.1. Display boards	155
4.2. Board games	156
4.3. Foreign language assistant	156
4.4. Twin school	158
4.5. Camera	159
4.6. Interactive whiteboard	160
4.7. Portfolio	161

4.8. Internet in the classroom	161
4.8.1. Social media	162
4.8.2. Blog	163
4.8.3. LMS or Intranet	164
5. Summary	165
Basic concepts	166
Topics for reflection	167
References	168
Unit 8. Sociolinguistic and pragmatic competence	171
Objectives of the Unit	173
1. Introduction	174
2. Pragmatics	174
2.1. Pragmatic competence	175
2.2. Areas of study	176
2.2.1. Speech acts	176
2.2.2. Deixis	178
2.2.3. Politeness	179
2.2.4. Conversational implicature	180
3. Sociolinguistics	181
3.1. Sociolinguistic competence	181
3.2. Variation	182
3.2.1. Speech community	183
3.3. Style	184
3.4. Register	184
3.5. Gender	186
4. Raising pragmatic and sociolinguistic awareness in the classroom	187
5. Assessing pragmatic competence	193

Basic concepts	195
Topics for reflection	196
References	196
Unit 9. Teaching learning and communicative strategies	199
Objectives of the Unit	200
1. Introduction	201
2. Communication strategies	202
2.1. Achievement strategies	203
2.1.1. Guessing strategies	203
2.1.2. Paraphrase strategies	204
2.1.3. Co-operative strategies	205
2.2. Reduction strategies	205
2.2.1. Avoidance strategies	206
2.2.2. Compensatory strategies	206
3. Learning strategies	207
3.1. Direct strategies	207
3.2. Indirect strategies	213
4. Conclusions	216
Basic concepts	217
Topics for reflection	218
References	219
Unit 10. CLIL in the classroom	221
Objectives of the Unit	222
1. Introduction	223
2. Content and language in the CLIL classroom	223

3. Cognition in the CLIL classroom	236
4. Planning a CLIL lesson	238
5. Evaluation in CLIL lessons	243
6. Conclusion	248
Basic concepts	249
Topics for reflection	250
References	250

